

A developer has a great idea for a new project, or wants to add a pretty big feature upgrade to her current one.

She gets the ball rolling by posting her idea for a new project on the Snowball site.

Submit a project

She also expects to do much of the implementation work, so she adds herself as a team member.

Join the Team

Idea Planning ...

The project is on its way!
Because the project has a team, it moves into the planning phase, where features will be selected and discussed.